ROTARY CLUB OF SACRAMENTO DONATES $5,000 TO STANFORD HOME FOR CHILDREN
Funds will support local families' urgent needs during counseling

SACRAMENTO—Sacramento parents struggling to rebuild their families will have more resources, thanks to a $5,000 grant from Rotary Club of Sacramento to Stanford Home for Children. The grant will be used to meet vulnerable Sacramento families' most urgent practical needs so that they can focus on stabilizing their family.

“It can feel nearly impossible to work on your mental health needs when your stomach is empty or your children need clothes that fit,” said Keith Diederich, Stanford Home executive director. “We are thankful to Rotary Club for supporting the basic needs of families in crisis, giving them the opportunity to heal.”

When children are in danger of being removed from their home, Stanford Home provides intensive, in-home counseling and support for the entire family. When necessary, Stanford Home provides essential necessities such as transportation, groceries, child care, and clothing to help families focus on their treatment.

For 110 years, Stanford Home has worked to ensure all children are safe, healthy and connected to family so they can dream, overcome and thrive. Combining a family-centered approach to care with solutions focused on results, Stanford Home provides a comprehensive array of programs that help Sacramento County's at-risk families regain self-confidence, rise above challenges and rebuild their lives. Organized in 1913, the Rotary Club of Sacramento is one of the oldest service groups in the Sacramento region. Thirty-four members attended the initial meeting; today its membership directory includes approximately 500. The Rotary Club of Sacramento is among the 20 largest clubs in the world and has provided a wide range of civic services and charitable programs to the Sacramento metropolitan area as well as the international community. To support these worthwhile causes, the Rotary Club of Sacramento Foundation was created in 1971, now focusing on helping underprivileged youth.
